

BRITISH FOREIGN POLICY BEFORE & AFTER IRAQ

Centre for International Security & Centre for British Government

Seminar Series and Student-led Discussion Groups funded by Professor Jason Ralph's British Academy

Mid-Career Fellowship. Further details at: <http://theamericanexception.wordpress.com>

5 October 2011, room 11.14 Social Science Building, 4pm - 5:30pm

Jason Ralph, University of Leeds

International Law, the American Exception, and British centre-left foreign policies before and after the Iraq War.

18 October*, rm TBC Social Science Building, 4pm - 5:30pm (*Tuesday not Wednesday)

Mark Phythian, University of Leicester

The "Special Relationship" before and after Iraq

2 November, room 11.14 Social Science Building, 4pm - 5:30pm

Matt Beech, University of Hull

David Cameron's Conservatives and foreign policy intervention

16 November, room 11.14 Social Science Building, 4pm - 5:30pm

Justin Morris, University of Hull

Neoconservatism, Liberal Conservatism and Military Intervention.

30 November, room 11.14 Social Science Building, 4pm - 5:30pm

Vicky Honeyman, University of Leeds

British International Policy from Brown to Cameron

